Kids and Money

All young people like to have their own money so they can go out with their friends or buy new things. Most American kids get a little money from their parents every week, but often it's not enough. So it's very common for kids to get more money by doing some kind of work in their neighborhood.

A lot of girls take care of babies or young children for money. Even very young girls, about 12 or 13 years old, can do this kind of work. Often they take care of their neighbors' children. They usually give the children dinner, play with them, and tell them to take a bath. Finally, they tell the children to go to bed. But often children don't want to go to sleep, so this is the hardest part!

Some boys take care of children, too, but it's more common for them to do yard work. For example, in the summer they can cut the grass, and in the spring they can clean up the garden. A lot of American houses have a front yard and a back yard, so there's always a lot of yard work. There's also lots of work around the house, like washing windows.

Most American parents think that working for money is good for kids. They say it teaches them the importance of work and how to use their own money.

(26) Why do a lot of American kids work for money?

- 1 Because their parents don't give them any money.
- 2 Because they want to be like their parents.
- 3 Because they don't get enough money from their parents.
- 4 Because they don't go out with their friends.

(27) What do girls do when they take care of children?

- 1 They play with the children.
- 2 They take a bath.
- 3 They give the children money.
- 4 They cut the grass.

(28) What is the hardest thing about looking after children?

- 1 Everything is hard.
- 2 The children are very young.
- 3 Most children want to take a bath.
- 4 The children don't want to go to sleep.

(29) Do boys take care of children, too?

- 1 No, they never do such work.
- 2 No, only girls do this work.
- 3 Yes, but they usually do yard work.
- 4 Yes, most boys do this work.

(30) What do most American parents think about kids working?

- 1 It's good because most kids don't like to work.
- 2 It's good because kids have no money.
- 3 Kids learn that working is important.
- 4 Kids spend too much money when they work.

Police Officers in the U.S.

In the U.S., there are very few police boxes like those in Japan. Most police officers go to the police station to start work. Then they spend many hours driving around in police cars.

There are also several ways to patrol without driving. Some police officers drive motorcycles, and some ride bicycles. In New York City, some police officers ride horses. Horses are faster than cars when traffic is heavy. Also, a police officer sitting on a horse is almost three meters above the ground. It's easy for the officer to see over the cars.

When there is an accident, people call 911 and the police officers go quickly to help. But if there is trouble in the mountains or on the water, the police officers ask specialists go to help. They are called police search and rescue teams.* They use helicopters and boats to find people who get lost in the mountains or need help on the water.

Some big cities want police officers who speak not only English, but also another language. This is because there are many people who do not speak English. If there is a problem, communication is very important. People feel more comfortable when they can talk with a police officer in their own language.

Being a police officer is one of the most difficult jobs in the U.S. It is sometimes dangerous, but it can be exciting and challenging, too.

* police search and rescue teams: 救助警官隊

(31) Where do most American police officers go to start work?

- 1 To New York City.
- 2 To the police station.
- 3 To a police helicopter.
- 4 To a police box.

(32) Why do some police officers ride horses in New York City?

- 1 Because horses are faster than cars when traffic is heavy.
- 2 Because horses cannot see over the cars.
- 3 Because they have to work in the mountains.
- 4 Because they can help people in the ocean.

(33) Why do police officers have to use helicopters in the mountains?

- 1 Because they want to help specialists.
- 2 Because some people lose their way.
- 3 Because traffic is heavy.
- 4 Because their motorcycles are broken.

(34) Why are police officers who speak two languages needed?

- 1 Because many people can speak English.
- 2 Because many police officers can feel more comfortable.
- 3 Because there are many people who don't speak English.
- 4 Because their job is very difficult.

(35) How do people feel if a police officer uses the person's own language?

- 1 They feel excited.
- 2 They feel important.
- 3 They feel challenged.
- 4 They feel comfortable.
